Dear Gull Lake Families and Staff,

Whatever form of Spring Break you have planned, be it a trip South to warmer temperatures, a series of day trips to see new attractions, or a staycation, we wish you happy times with your kids, family, and friends! Our kids really do store up the time you spend with them during these breaks, and the individual attention you give them gets stored in their memory banks for all time.

We all remember the times we bugged our parents nonstop to watch us try to impress them with some newly mastered skill. Our kids are still wired to want us to observe them and encourage them even as they get older and begin to assert their independence. They want us to be in tune with their growth and to support them in finding their best selves.

Our relationships with our kids and families are a blessing, and they grow and thrive with quality time and attention.

Have a wonderful Spring Break!
